Create Your Own Silly Spooky Story

Here's some fun for one or two people. You'll find several numbered columns full of words or phrases. Later on, you'll find a Ghostbuster story with numbered blanks in the text. Before you start reading the story, take a piece of paper and a pen and write down numbers one through 40. If you're doing this with a friend, ask him or her to select one word or phrase from each column. (Read them out loud and ask them to choose one.) If you're doing this alone, pick the words yourself. Once you've written them all down, go to the story. Fill in each numbered blank with the word that corresponds to that number on your list. Once you've filled in the blanks, read the story with these new words and you'll have created a ghost story that's guaranteed to get you giggling.

Pick one of the four words or phrases in each numbered column and then fill in each numbered blank in the story with the words you picked from the column with the same number.

The Ghostbusters' Big Battle

Dr. Venkman, Dr. Stantz, and Dr. Spengler decided to go into the ghostbusting business. They set up their headquarters in an old _____₁ in the middle of _____₂. The next thing they did was to make a commercial. In it, Dr. Venkman wore a _____₃ and let the world know that the Ghostbusters were totally serious about ridding hotels, offices, and houses of ghosts and other unwanted _____₄. "There is a scientific way," Dr. Venkman declared, "to eliminate all forms of _____₅ from your household and the Ghostbusters can _____₆ the job better than anyone else."

It just so happened that a young musician named Dana Barrett saw the commercial on TV one day in her apartment in the Shandor building. The Shandor was an old apartment house built by a famous _____⁷ named _____⁸. The Shandor was famous for its _____⁹, and many musicians and _____¹⁰ made their _____¹¹ there.

Dana had just come home from a rough day of _____¹², shopping for _____¹³, and practicing her _____¹⁴. Dana opened her refrigerator to put away her groceries. There, in front of her eyes, was the horrible sight of _____¹⁵. Dana screamed like a/an _____¹⁶. She pulled out a _____¹⁷ and hoped that the _____¹⁸ would scare away the strange things that now inhabited her refrigerator.

Suddenly, a piece of _____¹⁹ flew out of the grocery bag and turned into

_____. Dana had never had an experience like this, except for the time she went to _____ with _____.
20
21 22

Who could she call? What about Louis Tully, her neighbor? Louis was a self-employed _____ who sold _____ to 23 24
_____. No, Louis was a complete 25
_____, Dana thought as a _____ 26 27
flew by her head. It was then Dana noticed that an eerie green glow was coming from her refrigerator freezer. It looked like _____. Then it changed into the shape of 28
a hideous creature that said "_____."
29
That was it! Dana knew who she had to call.
This was a job for either _____ or the 30 Ghostbusters.

When the Ghostbusters arrived, they began taking care of business immediately. Dr. Venk-man took _____ and Dr. Spengler grabbed a _____.

31
32
“That’s a nasty little ghost you’ve got there,” Dr. Spengler said as he peered into the refrigerator. “It reminds me of
_____.”
33

Dana told them that a voice from her refrigerator had said “Zuul.” Dr. Venkman turned to Dr. Stantz and said “What does it mean?”

Dr. Stantz replied, “I looked it up in a _____ and it’s an ancient Sumerian word for _____.
34
35

“That gives me an idea,” said Venkman as he strapped on his proton pack and aimed his laser at the open refrigerator. He carefully adjusted the power setting of his ghostbusting weapon and took aim at _____ in the middle of the refrigerator. He opened fire and directed a scorching stream of _____ at it. Just for 36

good measure he fired two more shots, one at Dana's bag of groceries and the other at _____.

38

A piercing scream could be heard from the refrigerator and a wisp of smoke drifted from it.

Dana's apartment was now _____ but at least the ghosts had vanished. "We did it," shouted the Ghostbusters. "We sure aren't afraid of any _____ now."

39

Pick the Punchline

The movie Ghostbusters was full of funny jokes and powerful one-two punchlines. Here are some gutbusting, sidesplitting Ghostbuster punchlines. We've given you the straight lines and the setups. You pick the right punchline. Choose the letter next to the phrase or phrases that actually got the giggles in the movie.

1. When the ghost first appears in the library, it leaves lots of ectoplasmic residue in the card catalogue. Dr. Stantz wants to save it. Dr. Venkman says
 - a. "Just file it under D for disgusting."
 - b. "Look, somebody blows their nose and you want to keep it?"
 - c. "Makes me hungry."
 - d. "Slime flies when you're having fun."
2. Dean Yeager of Weaver Hall University kicks Drs. Venkman, Spengler, and Stantz out of their teaching positions, saying "You have no place in this department or in this university." Dr. Stantz replies, "This is a major disgrace . . ."
 - a. Please don't tell our mothers about it."
 - b. I guess we've lost our cafeteria privileges too."
 - c. Forget Stanford or M.I.T. They wouldn't touch us with a ten meter cattleprod now."

- d. It looks as if we'll have to work for a living now.'
3. Dana Barrett is in the Ghostbusters' office. She is telling Dr. Venkman about her refrigerator. "There was this strange glow and a voice said 'Zuul.' I slammed the door two days ago and I haven't been back since." What does Dr. Venkman say?
- a. "Take two aspirins, drink plenty of liquids, and call me in the morning."
 - b. "You know, leftovers can get pretty weird when you leave them in the fridge for too long."
 - c. "Generally you don't usually see that kind of behavior in a major appliance."
 - d. "I'm sorry, but we don't do refrigerators."
4. Dr. Venkman has just discovered that Dana Barrett has gone into a deep trance and has become a strange and wild character called Zuul. Venkman then calls up Spengler at their headquarters. "How is she?" Spengler asks. Venkman's response is
- a. "I think we can get her a guest shot on Wild Kingdom."
 - b. "Fine, thanks."
 - c. "Once I get her down off the ceiling I'll let you know."
 - d. "Totally awesome, man."
5. Later, Dr. Venkman notices that Dana has an unusual sleeping habit when she's in her trance. What unusual habit does he say she has?

- a. She sleeps on top of her covers — four feet on top of her covers!
 - b. She snores in a foreign language.
 - c. She doesn't walk in her sleep, she jogs!
 - d. She talks in her sleep using sign language.
6. Janine, the Ghostbusters' secretary, is talking to Dr. Spengler. She says, "I read and play racquetball. Do you have any hobbies?" What is Dr. Spengler's answer?
- a. "Yes, I breathe, sleep, and eat."
 - b. "No, my life is my work and I'm presently unemployed."
 - c. "I collect used ice cream sticks."
 - d. "I collect spores, mold, and fungus."
7. As news of the Ghostbusters' success spreads, they get invited to appear as guests on several TV shows. One of them is the Joe Franklin Show. Joe says to Dr. Stantz, "There's one question on everyone's mind and I imagine that you're the man to answer it." What is the question Joe asks?
- a. "Do you really believe in ghosts?"
 - b. "Do you make haunted housecalls?"
 - c. "When is Ghostbusters II coming out?"
 - d. "How is Elvis Presley and have you seen him lately?"
8. In one of their meetings early in the movie,

Dana Barrett tells Dr. Venkman, "You don't act like a scientist." Her next line is

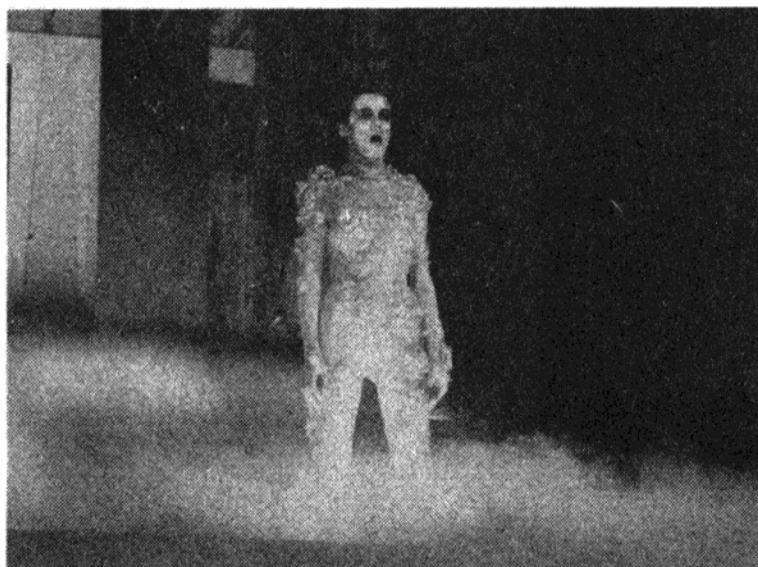

- a. "But you smell like one."
 - b. "Anyone who puts his shirts on backwards and inside out might not seem like the scientific type."
 - c. "You're more like a game show host."
 - d. "In fact, you don't even act like a human being."
9. "Let's split up," the Ghostbusters said when they began their attack on the ghost in the hotel ballroom. What was Venkman's next line or lines?
- a. "Good idea. You two take the ballroom entrances. I'll hit the coffee shop."
 - b. "No, let's just split."
 - c. "Yeah, we can do more damage that way."
 - d. "Forget it. I'm calling the A-Team."
10. Following the first encounter with a ghost, Dr. Venkman gets slimed with green ghostly goo. Dr. Spengler makes a wisecrack over his walkie-talkie. He says
- a. "Mmmm-good!"
 - b. "Who opened the lunch?"
 - c. "Save some for me."
 - d. "You look divine in green, Venkman!"
11. When Louis Tully holds his party, he goes into the bedroom to put some coats on the bed. He sees a fierce-looking creature with glowing eyes. He says

- a. "Wow, a coat with teeth!"
 - b. "Make mine mink."
 - c. "Who brought the dog?"
 - d. "Need anyone to handle your income tax returns?"
12. After Dana Barrett has turned into Zuul, she acts quite strangely and demands that Dr. Venkman embrace her. Dr. Venkman replies
- a. "I guess the roses worked, huh?"
 - b. "I make it a rule to never become involved with possessed people."
 - c. "You know the old saying, 'Two's company. Three's a crowd.' "
 - d. All of the above.
13. When Janine, the Ghostbusters' secretary, interviews the newest member of the team, Winston Zeddemore, she asks him, "Do you believe in UFOs, astral projections, mental telepathy, ESP, spirit photography, telekinetic movement, full trance mediums, the Loch Ness Monster, and the theory of Atlantis?" What is Winston's answer?
- a. "Yes, and the Tooth Fairy, too."
 - b. "Can I sleep on it and get back to you tomorrow?"
 - c. "Believe in them? I don't even know what you're talking about. Can you repeat the question in English?"
 - d. "If there's a steady paycheck in it, I'll believe in anything you say."

14. In one scene, Dr. Stantz says, "We haven't had a complete test of our equipment yet. But there's no sense worrying about that now." What is Dr. Venkman's answer?
- a. "What? Me, worry?"
 - b. "Why worry? Each of us is only wearing an unlicensed nuclear reactor on his back."
 - c. "Hey, I think I left my good luck charm in the car. I'll just go and get it. Why don't you guys start without me?"
 - d. "What makes you think I'm worried? I always sweat buckets, chew my fingernails to the bone, and my knees always shake at 90 miles an hour."
15. At the end of the movie, Louis Tully recovers from his awful experience. He has been through, in Dr. Stantz's words, "the biggest interdimensional cross-rip since the Tungusta blast of 1919." Once he returns to normal, he has a very important question to ask of the Ghostbusters. What is that question?
- a. "Can I go home now?"
 - b. "Where am I and who am I?"
 - c. "Think it'll rain today?"
 - d. "Who does your taxes?"

Choose the Correct Caption

- b. Gozer turned to the Ghostbusters and said, "Choose the form of your destruction."
- c. Following her destruction of New York, Gozer burst out singing "I Did It My Way."

2. a. Dr. Venkman said, "Don't fire your lasers at Mr. Stay-Puft for too long. I like my marshmallows toasted golden brown, not burnt."
- b. The four Ghostbusters drew their lasers and fired away at Gozer, the leader of all the ghosts.
- c. "Hey, Stantz," Venkman yelled. "Watch your aim. You just blew up that apartment building across the street."

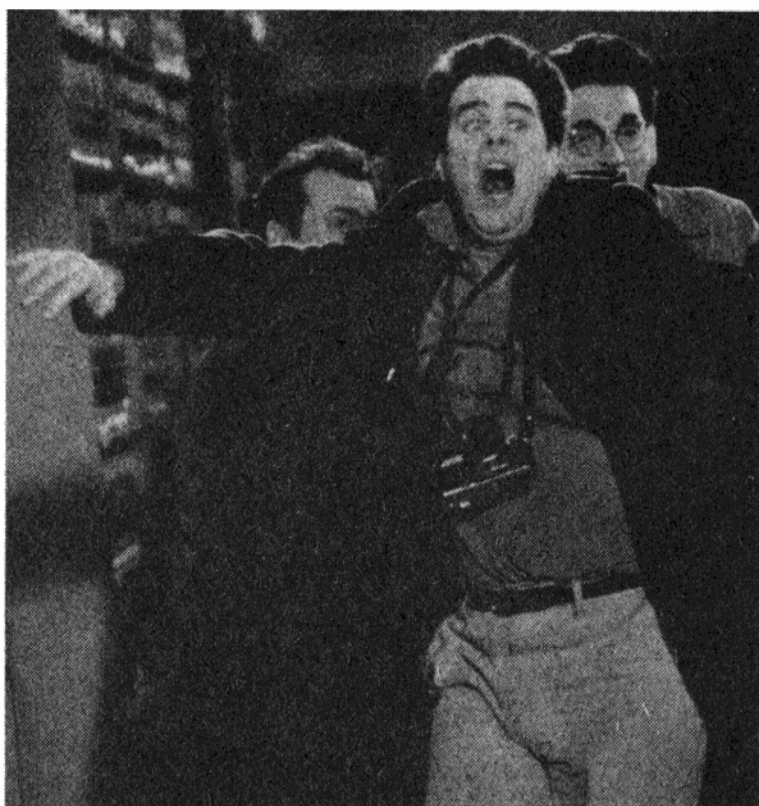

3. a. The four Ghostbusters drew their lasers and said, "Well, let's toast him now."
- b. "All we need are 9,000 chocolate bars and 8,000 boxes of graham crackers, and we'll have enough S'mores to feed the entire city," said Dr. Venkman.
- c. Dr. Stantz looked down at the street below and cried, "No, I can't shoot. Mr. Stay-Puft was the only friend I ever had as a kid."

4. a. Bill Murray, Dan Aykroyd, and Harold Ramis react as they hear the funniest lines in the Ghostbusters script.
- b. "I don't care if the Sedgewick Hotel is full of ghosts," Dr. Spengler said. "We're not going until we finish watching our favorite show, Sesame Street."
- c. The three Ghostbusters stared intently at the ghostly figures in the library.

5. a. When the hotel manager said the Ghostbusters' bill of $5,000 was too much, they said "We can always put the ghost back in the ballroom then."
- b. The headwaiter was adamant. "I don't care if you are the Ghostbusters. You can't go in the dining room without a tie and jacket."
- c. The hotel manager told the Ghostbusters, "There's only one type of visitor that wrecks hotel rooms worse than ghosts and that's rock musicians."

6. a. Dr. Stantz and Dr. Spengler realize they might have to work for a living following their dismissal from Weaver Hall University.
- b. Dr. Spengler and Stantz scream as the peaceful elderly library ghost exploded into a vicious white-haired skeleton.
- c. Dan Aykroyd and Harold Ramis flee a movie theater after watching Bill Murray in his first serious role in The Razor's Edge.

Ghostbusters* Special Effects: A Tricky True and False

Below you'll find ten statements about the special effects seen in Ghostbusters. After each one, write a T if you think it's a true statement or an F if you think the sentence is false. Since the special effects secrets were not publicized very much, you might not be familiar with this subject. If that's the case, a good guess will serve you as well as a knowledge of special effects secrets. Once you've made your choices, turn the book upside down and look at the bottom of the next page. You'll find a surprise.

1. The moviemakers actually built a 60-foot temple in a California studio to shoot the final scenes of the movie. It cost more than $1 million to build. ____
2. One of the movie sets was so big that in order to light it properly the director of photography, Lazlo Kovacs, had to round up 14 of the largest spotlights ever built in Hollywood. ____
3. The moviemakers actually had to blow up city streets using explosives in the big battle scene at the end of the movie. ____
4. The movie script required that special effects crews create almost 200 different visual effects to be inserted into regular film footage with the actors. ____

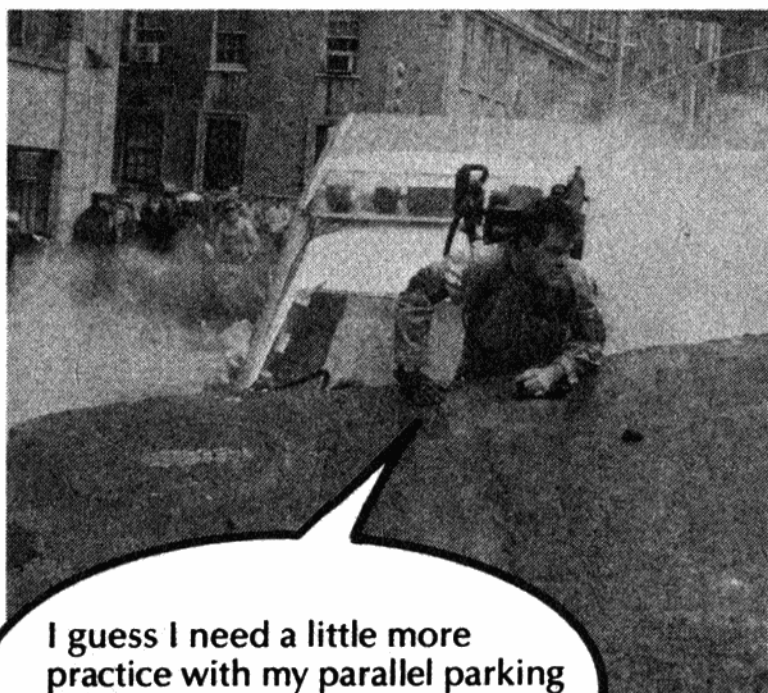

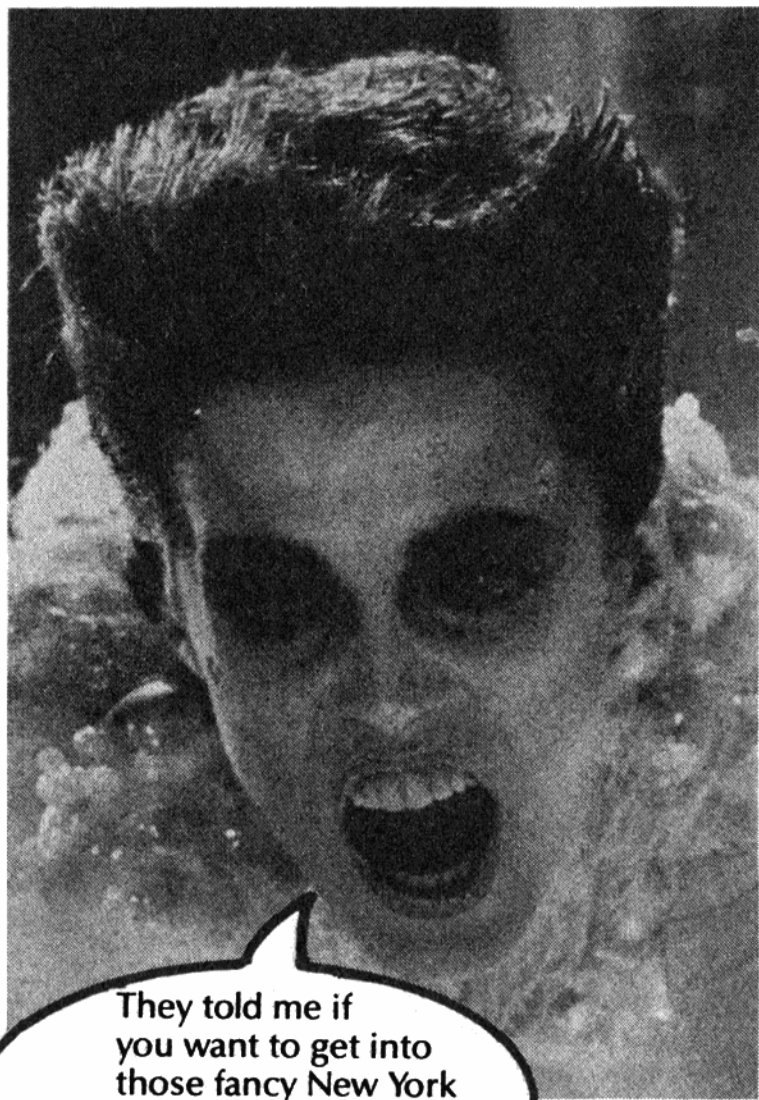

5. The moviemakers created ghosts using techniques such as stop-motion photography and animation. ____
6. To create the rolling clouds and stormy skies above New York, some special effects involved injecting color dyes into the water in a small "cloud" tank. ____
7. Special "matte" paintings were used to create views of the New York City skyline when the crew was shooting scenes in the studio. ____

8. The terror dogs that come to life on top of the apartment building were actually puppets. They ranged from very small puppets to ones large enough for a crew member to fit inside. ____
9. The large terror dogs contained all kinds of electronics, wires, and mechanical pieces to make them move, even while a puppeteer was inside each one. As many as ten technicians were required to operate a single terror dog. ____
10. The special effects team actually built a 20-foot-tall apartment building with a temple on top to recreate Dana Barrett's apartment. ____

EVERY STATEMENT ABOVE IS TRUE!

They told me if you want to get into those fancy New York discos you've got to have a wild look.
How's this?

For my next impression,
I'm going to do my imitation of a TV antenna!

Venkman, no one is going to believe that you're not afraid of ghosts if you insist on holding Spengler's hand when you go in the building.

Spengler!
Venkman just had a nasty run-in . . .
No, not with a ghost . . .
with a room service cart!

Dr. Stantz will now demonstrate the proper way to pick up his salad fork with his toes.

Say, this laser blaster is just the thing to remove cobwebs from the ceiling!

Why can't that new tenant use the elevator like everyone else?
